

ImageFast Ltd use PDT 8001 to book lawyers time

Activity tracker is a highly intuitive time and activity recording system designed to help lawyers, accountants and consultants ensure that they are accurately managing their time and billing to clients.

Organisations understand the benefits of tracking time and activities, but often the tracking system used can add to the complexity and workload of the fee earner. ImageFast have developed Activity Tracker to work with the fee earner and record time as they work, ensuring that billable and non-billable activities can be accounted for.

Time and Activity recording can be entered by a simple pop up window that is accessed from an icon running on the desktop toolbar. Entering activity information is as simple as selecting the client, matter (or project) and type of activity from a drop down list and the system will start the timer.

When the fee earner is finished on that activity they can simply stop the timer, or choose another client and start work on the new activity.

Initially Imagefast have installed 60 units in an investment bank in Hong Kong and will continue to use more units as their product grows.
