Outdoor Furniture

The Westminster benches, which are the very top of our range, are classic heavy duty, yet traditional park, street and landscape furniture. The seats are built in Britain by highly skilled craftsmen using traditional joinery techniques. Major joints are mortised and tenoned and dowels are used extensively. By a careful 'dry' method of construction, i.e. the minimal use of adhesive, it is simple to repair or refurbish the furniture should damage occur.

We are particularly careful to buy our timber from countries belonging to the International Tropical Timber Organisation, all of which have accepted ITTO guidelines for the sustainable production of tropical timber.

By purchasing our products it ensures that the timber resource retains an economic value, thus providing an incentive to replant, manage and protect for the future.

BRANSON
leisure

The Westminster range is produced from Iroko (Chlorophora excelsa) that is sourced from West Africa. This is a highly durable hardwood with an attractive grain that will withstand our weather all year round.

The timber remains in its natural form with principal end grain waxed.

BRANSON LEISURE FURNITURE

Either machine carved inscriptions or plaques in lacquered brass or stainless steel will enhance our full range of seating.

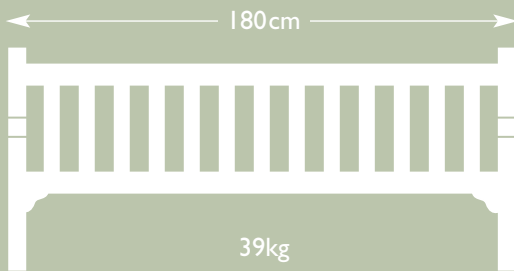

This may simply denote ownership or make the seats ideal for presentation and commemorative purposes.
