Mould Making Supplies

Dow Corning is a leading name in silicone rubber. Our Dow Corning silicone (Silastic 3481) is a medium hardness rubber with high tear resistance and high elasticity. It has outstanding release properties and gives excellent detail on reproductions and is extremely good value.

There are 3 catalyst speeds; Slow (24hr cure), fast (8hr cure) and very fast (2hr cure). Very fast catalyst is recommended to be used with thixo additive for vertical surface applications. The Silicone has a base to catalyst ratio of 10% so is very easy to measure. Comes with full technical support.

External Moulding Materials

Jesmonite AC730

Many believe this to be the future for fibrous plastering and allows the fibrous plasterer to expand his portfolio by utilising his skills in outside work, bespoke architectural features, internal and external cladding, and other design features.

Ideal for external work, Jesmonite AC730 is a rapid setting cement based acrylic composite. It has been designed specifically for glass reinforced structures and castings. It has low permeability and can withstand all weather conditions and can even be used in water features. It also boasts a reduced lime-free content and has low alkalinity so reductions in efflorescence is achieved compared to portland cement systems. Use with Jesmonite's brilliant quadaxial reinforcement or choppies.

Jesmonite AC730 is safe and easy to use, is fire resistant, is solvent free, can be used directly with silicone rubber moulds, has a low exothermic reaction on setting and also has low linear expansion. Due to Jesmonite's quadaxial fabric reinforcement it has very high strength and can be cast thinner than plaster or sand and cement, thus achieving a much lower piece weight.

Available in 6 stone finishes; Natural, Bathstone, Yellow Sandstone, White Marble, Portland and Silver Grey Granite. Matching service available.

Kit includes both liquids and Powders

External Moulding Materials

GRC RTU

GRC RTU is a glass reinforced concrete composite moulding material which is both versatile and easy to use. You simply add water and pour. Its use of polymers and superplasticisers gives improved flexural strengths, faster demouldings and improved dry curing times over traditional sand and cement and other cement based glass reinforced products. It has excellent water resistant qualities also.

Uses include creating architectural elements such as window sills and surrounds, plaques, balustrades, columns and even cornices.

It can be used with both silicone rubber and fibreglass moulds. For closed moulds simply pour. For open casting a thixo additive can be added to give a thicker non slumping mix. It has a light portland stone colour when dry, but can be coloured with cement colours or painted when dry.

25kg bags @ £32.00

Thixo additive @ £4.00 per kg (1kg is enough for 2 bags (50kg) of GRC RTU mix)
